The Gods of Olympus

Greek Mythology

After the battle of the Titans the world divided into three parts, between the three brothers, Zeus, Poseidon, and Hades or Plutonas. Zeus took the sky, Poseidon the sea and Hades took the underworld which is also called Hades.

The land and Olympus were not given to anybody. Zeus was the most powerful among the gods. His brothers, sisters and kids acquired different positions. There were many gods and goddesses. The most important though were the six gods and six goddesses of Mount Olympus, also called the Olympian gods:

The Gods

- Zeus = Διας/Ζευς. The king of all gods and humans.
- Poseidon = Ποσειδώνας. The god of the sea.
- Apollo = Απόλλωνας. The God of the sun, music, and divination.
- Hermes = Ερμής. The messenger of the gods.
- Ares = Άρης. The god of war.
- Hephaestus = Ήφαιστος. The god of fire and the craftsman of the gods. He made Zeus' thunderbolts.

The Goddesses

- Hera = Ήρα. Zeus' wife, the Queen of the gods.
- Athena = Αθηνά. Zeus' daughter, goddess of wisdom.
- Aphrodite = Αφροδίτη. The goddess of beauty. She came out from the foam of the sea on a beach in Cyprus.
- Demeter = Δήμητρα. The goddess of agriculture.
- Artemis = Άρτεμη. The goddess of hunting.
- Hestia = Εστία. The goddess of the home and the family.

Other Gods

There were other gods that did not live on Mount Olympus. Some of them are:

- Hades = Άδης or Πλούτωνας. The god of the underworld, Zeus' brother.
- Dionysus = Διόνυσος. Son of Zeus, the god of wine.
- Pan = Πάνας. Son  of Hermes, god of the shepherds and the flocks.
